Kerry Collins, BVD Director, explained that the way the enabling legislation is written, it states that BVD can incur debt for public works that are included in the master plan, i.e., improving water quality, promoting, improving and beautifying the Vermilion River. Proposed improvements include expanding the north landing and Beaver Park, a park on the north end of the Parish, work in the area of the Camellia Bridge, possibly a public/private venture on the Trappey’s site and cleaning of the river.

Williams then commended the Bayou Vermilion District for their efforts. He then asked if a Feasibility Study was needed and Collins answered that a study will be done before the election but one is not required. Williams encouraged the BVD Commission to have definite plans for the $4,000,000 to present to the public and that the funds are distributed as equitably as possible.

Broussard expressed concern because the plans for the issue were too broad. Collins rebutted that the BVD wanted to make sure they were fully authorized to go to the voters before presenting ideas to the voters. The BVD will come before the Council again with a prioritized list of projects.
